

MISSING

out on endless hours of fetch is something Betsy will never have to worry about ever again, thanks to the really nice folks at No Kill Louisville. Betsy is waiting patiently to be adopted by a family who will love her every bit as much as she's sure to love them. Meanwhile, thanks to No Kill Louisville volunteers, her days at the local shelter are filled with long walks, more hugs and kisses than she knows what to do with - and perhaps the one thing she loves more than anything, lots of fetch with her favorite ball. That's just one of the many ways NKL works together with other organizations to save thousands of lives each year. Without donations from animal lovers like you, none of it would be possible. To find out how you can volunteer and spend time with real characters like Betsy, even if your throwing arm leaves something to be desired, and to learn about more opportunities to get involved, visit nokill-louisville.com, today.
